TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 30, 1907.

THE EVASIONS OF THE ARTFUL DODGER.

The Artful Dodger of the Blue Bazaar is still evading the circulation question. He is hard to pin down to an investigation. He hankers to have it not. The extent of his claim now is that The Courier hasn't quite double the circulation of the News. He says:

The News insists that there be no resorting to myths, doubts or disputable figures of the past. The Courier says its circulation in Connelleville and territory tributary thereto is more than double that of the News, and that is what The News calls upon it to prove. To seek to do this it is not necessary to burden the committee with old figures. The papers sent out from each office to regular readers in June or July will show what the legitimate, not paid circulation is. The News insists that the committee begin its task immediately if it is to take it up at all and that it consider indisputable, legitimate circulation facts only.

The languishing summer heat has evidently made our esteemed contemporary very, very tired. It does not want to be "burdened" with "old figures." They would be a burden entirely too heavy to be borne. The News has been deliberately and willfully misrepresenting its circulation in the "old" times and does not want to be confronted with the record of its duplicity. It is now trying to deceive the advertisers again with a misleading statement.

The Courier suggested that the investigation cover a period of one year for the reason that this is the period of time required to be covered by newspaper directories before they record the newspaper a rating. There is an excellent business reason for this. The directory publishers and the business men generally do not want to know what any newspaper's evanescent "boom" circulation is, but what its average is the year around. They want a stable proposition, not too fading flower of a fleeting summer season.

We leave the matter of investigation in the hands of the committee with the information that the circulation of The Courier may be investigated for a year back or any length of time that the committee may see fit for its own information and the information of the Connelleville merchants.

We have nothing to conceal with regard to circulation, but every reason for desiring the facts to be known. We welcome a full investigation. We urge it. The News dodges it.

That's the difference between The Courier and The News, and it's a typical difference.

THE OHIO SITUATION HAS A KNOX APPEARANCE.

The peace which was thought to have been arranged in Ohio, whereby the Foraker lions and the Taft tigers had laid down in gentle and pleasant pounce together, has been rudely disrupted by the Old Guard that never surrenders.

Senator Foraker announces that he has been a party to no compromise; that he declines the peace conditions outlined by the Tafts; that he is a candidate for the Presidential nomination himself, and that he will fight it out with the President's help apparent on this line alone. Foraker scorns the bribe of an unopposed return to the United States Senate. He makes it plain that he is not afraid to fight the whole Roosevelt crowd and that he is, moreover, going to do it. He will stick or swim in the effort. No compromise for him.

The endorsement of Secretary Taft as Ohio's choice for the Presidency was regarded as certain until within a few days, when it was boldly announced that the State Committee would turn such a resolution down. The declaration of Senator Foraker is an indication that he confidently expects to have the committee with him.

Under the circumstances, it is evident that Secretary Taft is dangerously close to being bowled out of the race. If he fails to get the endorsement of the committee, he may also fail to get the endorsement of the State, and in any event he will have been so seriously discredited in his own home as to raise the just suspicion that he is not the proper person to set up as a candidate to carry a doubtful State. By some token, Senator Foraker will be no better.

Pennsylvania presents with unanimity a candidate against whose qualifications and character nothing can be urged, and who will command the united Republican strength of every State in the Union, be they over so safe or over so doubtful.

SIDEWALKS AND OWNERS' OBLIGATIONS.

Miles of sidewalks are being relaid in Pittsburgh, and the unsightly, rough and unsanitary brick pavements are being replaced by cement sidewalks. The improvement is one which cannot be too highly commended.

There was a time when the impression was abroad in Connelleville that the borough authorities could not compel the property owner to relaid his sidewalk once he had laid such walk in a substantial manner. There was a vague idea that the borough was under some sort of implied obligation to keep up the sidewalks as well as the streets, just as it is obliged to pay damages to property caused by the change of an established grade.

The proposition was all folly and some property owners have recently awakened from idle dreams. The borough has relaid their sidewalks for them and has collected the bill from them in a manner not very pleasant to their delicate sensibilities. It is the duty of the owner of the abutting property to provide suitable sidewalks and keep them in good repair; if he does not do so it is the duty of the borough authorities to compel him to do it, and the authorities have the power to do it themselves and collect the cost from the property in case of neglect on the part of the owners to comply with reasonable notice to make such improvements or repairs.

A number of ramshackle sidewalks have already been relaid in Connelleville, and there are a number of others that ought to be relaid. The Town Council should insist upon these improvements.

The Washington authorities are getting tired waiting on the Waynesburg bank people to do something and have served notice that they must be immediate action on the part of the stockholders or there will be immediate action on the part of the federal authorities. The Greene county people in the quiet and peaceful times of the past were probably slow, but lately they got on a pretty clipper, and the government wants to see that gait applied to the bank's business.

"Fire Alarm" Foraker's alarm looks like the real thing, in which respect it differs from the Connelleville fire alarm.

The expedient of keeping down the dust on the country roads by dishing them may be practical and successful, but some people would prefer the dust to the smell of the oil.

The Scottdale preacher who refuses to close his church during the hot weather will have to be cooled off by Satan. He believes in fighting sin to a finish and in taking off his coat in hot weather to do it. He may be working over time in the Master's vineyard and there may be nothing in his pay check to show for it, but in the end the Master will take him into the firm.

The train-jumper never learns from the sad experience of others. He has to have his own and his own are often his finish.

The North Carolina rate cases are to be settled in court in the ordinary manner suggested in these columns a few days ago. It is a victory for law and common sense, and a defeat for anarchy and common ruin.

The Fighting Tenth will fight it over again, this time at long range.

Coking coal deals continue just as lively as ever. The business may be said to be as hot as ever, and prices a trifle higher.

DECLARES OPEN WAR.

Foraker Announces Himself Receptive Candidate for Presidential Nomination.

DECLINES TO SUPPORT TAFT

Takes Shot at Harris, Burton and Herrick and Declares Emphatically Against Revision of Tariff at This Time—Appeals to Voters.

Cincinnati, July 30.—That it is impossible for him under present conditions to favor the presidential candidacy of Secretary of War William H. Taft is the statement of United States Senator Foraker in a letter given out here last night.

The letter is addressed to C. B. McCoy of Cincinnati, a member of the Republican state committee, and is intended as the expression of the senator's views when the committee meets at Columbus today. The interview of Gov. Harris in which he favors the endorsement of Foraker for senator and Taft for president and various recent publications are taken as the text for the letter, which follows:

"I learn that a resolution is likely to be offered at the meeting of the central committee to be held in Columbus tomorrow, July 30, endorsing Secretary Taft as Ohio's candidate for the presidency and I have seen it stated that a resolution is likely also to be offered endorsing me as my own successor in the senate of the United States, and in the papers is published what purports to be an authorized interview with Gov. Harris favoring this proposed action. In this same interview he announces as he has heretofore announced, that he is in favor of the revision of the tariff.

Addresses Republican Voters. "Inasmuch as you are a member of the state central committee I take the liberty of addressing you and through you the whole committee and all the Republican voters of Ohio upon the questions so brought to your attention.

"At the Dayton convention of last year, which was a representative body, it was proposed to endorse a candidate for the presidency. I opposed the proposition on the ground that it was not only premature, but also on the ground that the delegates to the convention had not been chosen with reference to that question and that it would be an assumption of jurisdiction and authority that did not properly belong to them.

"The present state central committee, composed of only 21 members, were chosen by that convention. They were not selected with reference to presidential preferences. The selection of a candidate for the presidency is not one of their duties.

"I think this question should be determined only in accordance with the expressed wish of the Republican voters of Ohio and that in view of the controversies that have arisen the Republican voters of Ohio should be given an opportunity to be heard before any action is taken by any committee or anybody not chosen by the people to represent them in regard to this matter.

Extremely Bad Policy. "I think it is premature and bad policy to undertake in this way to subject the presidential question and national politics into Ohio politics at a time when we are concerned with our municipal elections, with respect to which it should be the desire of every Republican to subordinate everything that might stand in the way of united, harmonious and successful Republican effort. When we are through with the elections of this year we can take up the settlement of our presidential preferences.

"I shall at that time request the state central committee to order that delegates for the next convention shall be selected in all the counties at primaries. In this way we free ourselves from the oft-repeated charges that state conventions in recent years have been governed by committees, bosses and small coteries with selfish interests in view.

"It is claimed that Secretary Taft is the only candidate Ohio has for the presidency, that I have not at any count, from sentiments of state pride, we should unite in his support. I see it stated as a reason for the claim that Ohio has only one candidate for the presidency that I have not at any time announced my candidacy for this office. It is true that I have never made any such announcement.

In a Receptive Mood. "The responsibilities of the office are so great and serious that any man might well feel highly complimented and greatly honored to have his fellow citizens name him in such a connection, but any ordinary man might well hesitate to proclaim himself qualified for such responsibilities, preferring at least to wait until invited by his party associates to undertake such duties. It is because I entertain opinions of this kind that I have not made any announcement of any candidacy for any office.

"Today there is a wide difference among Republicans on a question of the most vital character. The question I refer to is not to regulation of trusts, railroads and interstate commerce, about which we are all united, but the tariff question. We are in the midst of the most unexampled prosperity any nation was ever blessed with. I was told in Hamilton a few days ago that the crying need of that place is for more labor.

"I was told only this morning by a prominent manufacturer that Cincinnati could give employment today if I could find them at the highest standard of wages ever paid to 20,000 more laborers. And so it is all over the country. Our volume of money, although the largest and the best we have ever had, is not adequate to meet the demands of legitimate business.

Why Harris Favors Taft. "And yet, notwithstanding this condition of unparalleled prosperity, there is a demand not alone from Democrats and theorists and idealists, who are always in favor of revising our tariff downward, but from a number of leading Republicans for an immediate revision of our tariff duties. Inasmuch as Gov. Harris represents that such is his view I don't wonder that he prefers Secretary Taft as his candidate for the presidency, for on a number of occasions Secretary Taft has taken pains to announce that he is in favor of an immediate revision of our tariff. I observe also that most of the leading supporters of Secretary Taft in our state entertain similar views, notably among them ex-Gov. Herrick and the Hon. Theodore E. Burton.

"When therefore we are asked to commit ourselves to the candidacy of Secretary Taft we must do it with the fact in mind that he entertains the views he has expressed on this subject and that if we make him our candidate the campaign of necessity must be a campaign for a revision downward of the tariff schedules, under which the country has been brought to not only an unprecedented but a universal prosperity.

No Time Now for Revision. "There may be some duties too high and there may be some too low and there may come a time, and no doubt will, when there ought to be some changes made, but I don't think we should enter upon any such work at this time and I don't believe that we should discredit what the Republican party has done for this country under the policies represented by the Dingley tariff laws by making our campaign of next year an attack upon that statute.

"If we can be given time to discuss this subject I may change my views about it, but without further advice it is impossible for me, notwithstanding the high character and high ability and the distinguished services of Secretary Taft, to favor his candidacy.

OUTLOOK NOT GOOD

For Reopening of Farmers and Drivers' Bank of Waynesburg Unless Action Is Prompt.

Special to The Courier. WAYNESBURG, July 30.—Green county business men who have been trying to secure a reopening of the Farmers' and Drivers' National Bank are discouraged over a communication received yesterday by the directors (comprised of the Carpenters, Hedges, in which it is stated that unless something toward reopening the bank can be done at once a dividend will be declared and an assessment made upon the stockholders.

It was announced yesterday that 2,700 shares have been pledged for the reorganized institution and more have been promised. Ezra Sayers, former President, owns 126 shares of the stock. On account of his poor physical condition and his age, as well as his ignorance of the failure of the bank, he cannot be consulted regarding the transfer of his stock into shares of the reorganized bank. His relatives refuse to permit the legal steps necessary to secure the transfer of his stock without his consent. The complication has blocked the reorganization scheme.

Senator D. S. Walton, President of the Institution and former Cashier J. H. Rinehart, both heavy stockholders, have been hard at work on the scheme. There is said to be about $480,000 in the United States Treasury collected since the closing of the institution, and there are extensive coal lands and other interests from which nothing has yet been realized. With an indefinite time to work up the reorganization it was believed that it could be accomplished. The demand for immediate results, however, will, it is believed, effectually block the project.

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE.

City Government Affairs to Be Aired at Duluth Meeting.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 30.—The man who treat aching molars, hundreds of them, not only from all parts of the United States, but from a number of other countries as well, are to be the guests of Minneapolis during the remainder of this week. The occasion is the annual convention of the National Dental Association.

Stamp Collectors Meet. DENVER, Colo., July 30.—[Special.]—Beginning today and continuing through the rest of this week Denver and vicinity will be the rallying place for hundreds of stamp collectors throughout the country. The occasion is the annual meeting of the Philatelic Association.

DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

W. F. Frederick Music Co's. Introductory Sale—Big Demand for Pianos—They Are Going at Greatly Reduced Prices.

Only a Few More Days in Which to Secure These Great Bargains—Reinhardt's Music Store, Next Door to Postoffice, Open Evenings.

Our introductory piano sale in Connellsville is an event of great importance to piano buyers. People who have been looking for a bargain in high-grade pianos for years past are taking advantage of this great opportunity, and supplying their homes and families while they can make this great money-saving. It is very doubtful if ever such prices will be named on the best makes of pianos again in this section. No small dealer could do it and we shall positively not repeat it. The demand for these pianos is much greater than we had expected, and at the rate they are being sold, the entire stock will be gone within a few days.

The reason for such extraordinary piano selling is because it is the world's best makes of pianos that are being sold at such remarkable price reductions. We are saving each customer $100 to $200 on their purchase. Magnificent Cabin Grand Pianos of the highest standard sold the world over at $450, $500 and $600 are reduced for this sale to $287, $327 and $388, either cash or easy monthly payments.

$216 or $254 secures you an instrument that has always sold at $350 to $400 and you can have easy terms of payment.

JEWISH CONGRESS.

It is proposed to call the body the International Congress of All-Israel. One of the advantages urged is that the Congress would be able to act authoritatively in case of oppression or massacre and be entitled to recognition from the Czar of Russia or any other ruler. International headquarters probably will be established in London or Paris.

Steve Sabo, an Italian, was killed by a P. & E. freight train near Whitsett Junction on the P. & E. railroad, last night. There is some doubt as to the manner in which he was killed. The supposition is that he was trying to get on the train as his body was bruised and scratched, showing that he had been dragged along the track for some distance. He was terribly mangled.

TELL TALE OF WOE TO PRITCHARD

In Asking Modification of Injunction in Accordance With Peace Agreement They Say They Were Coerced by Threats of Reprisals.

Asheville, N. C., July 30.—A parting shot at the state authorities in the railroad controversy was fired through petitions which the Southern Railway and the Atlantic Coast Line have filed before Judge Pritchard asking that his interlocutory injunction be modified in accordance with the "peace" agreement reached at Raleigh between Gov. Glenn and the railroads.

Both the roads filed petitions very similar in tenor which explained a conference between attorneys representing the two roads. The petition of the Southern Railway recites the entire history of the railroad cases and includes a protest against what the roads regard as their ill treatment, this protest and recital of facts being designed for the perusal of the supreme court of the United States as well as for the public.

The railroads declare in effect that they were clubbed into becoming a party to the agreement effected at Raleigh. The public mind has been inflamed by the newspapers and the utterances of politicians, and the agreement was only assented to, it is asserted, under duress because of threats of an extra session of the legislature when the expectation was held out that worse things would happen to the roads. The Southern Railway company, says the petitioner, was confronted with a question as to whether a proper course of its duty to the public and good order of the state, a proper consideration of its obligations to perform its duties as a common carrier in the state and interstate business and its obligations not to subject its employees to harassing persecutions, arrests and imprisonments would justify it in longer claiming its constitutional right to the protection of the interlocutory order authorizing it to continue until the hearing its existing rate of passenger charges or whether it was not best to cease the unequal conflict with the united powers of the state.

The company does not lose sight, continues the petition, of the momentous nature of the claim asserted by the state. If this state claim can be sustained, it is pointed out, it means that, through the agency of its criminal laws, a state can take the use of property without compensation for the time between the enactment of a statute by its general assembly and the final determination of its constitutionality.

The request to make changes indicated in the petition was granted by Judge Pritchard, who, in making the revised order, made a lengthy statement saying that "the applications heretofore granted in these causes present a condition of affairs unprecedented in the judicial annals of this country."

WANTS ANOTHER JUDGE

Gosbel's Alleged Slayer Charges Court With Being Prejudiced.

Georgetown, Ky., July 30.—With the prison pillar from seven and one-half years confinement plainly visible on his countenance but with the air of a man confident of his acquittal, Caleb Powers, twice convicted of alleged complicity in the assassination of William Gosbel, faced Judge Robbins for his fourth trial. While counsel for Powers say they are anxious for a trial this time, they are making a heroic effort to swear Judge Robbins off the bench, this being the first and in fact the only move made in the preliminary proceedings. Powers charges that Judge Robbins was prejudiced against him in his former trial. The allegation caused a decided sensation in court.

When Judge Robbins called the case against Powers the defense lost no time in entering the motion for the court to vacate the bench and the fourth big legal battle between trained lawyers on either side was on. So lengthy was the document presented by the attorneys for the defense in support of this motion that the prosecution asked time to examine the document.

A Pleasant Sort of Sea.

The power of the surf is a thing about which many of us have but the most hazy ideas, and indeed the conditions with which we are surrounded prevent us from fully appreciating what it can be at times. The people of the island of Chincolegue, which is about a mile and a half wide, have, however, opportunities for judging this experience, which they must find the reverse of pleasant. On its eastern side and between it and the ocean is Assateague Island, which is also a mile and a half wide, but the power with which the waves come is so great that at some places the surf sweeps entirely over both islands.
